ABOUT US

The End FGM European Network is an umbrella network of 39 organisations in 16 countries working to ensure sustainable European action to end Female Genital Mutilation (FGM). We are the central platform connecting grassroots communities and European decision-makers. The Network facilitates cooperation between all relevant actors in the field of FGM both in Europe and globally. Our mission is to be the driving force of the European movement to end all forms of FGM

THE BOARD

Marianne Nguena Kana
Interim Director of the Network

“As we embark on this new parliamentary mandate, I invite you, esteemed decision-makers, to stand with us to end female genital mutilation (FGM). It is crucial that we intensify our efforts, push for more ambitious policies, and ensure that the EU takes the lead in safeguarding every woman and girl from this harmful practice. Your voice, your guidance, and your action are essential in creating a future where every girl and woman can live without the fear of female genital mutilation.

Together, we can turn this into a reality.”

WHAT IS FGM

According to the World Health Organisation, 'FGM comprises all procedures involving the removal of the external female genitalia or other injury to the female genital organs for non-medical reasons'. At least 230 million girls and women have undergone FGM globally, and 3 millions are still at risk annually. FGM is a form of gender-based violence deeply ingrained in harmful norms that control and restrict women's freedom. It denies full enjoyment of human rights, including bodily integrity, freedom from torture, mental health, sexual health, and reproductive rights.

The 4 different types of FGM

WHO IS AFFECTED BY FGM?

FGM is a global issue, there are FGM survivors and girls at risk on every continent but Antarctica.

FGM-affected communities and FGM Survivors are diverse, coming from different ethnicities, nationalities, religions, socio-economic background and so on. This diversity must be accounted for.

The procedure is carried out at a variety of ages, ranging from shortly after birth to sometime during the first pregnancy. Although it most commonly occurs between the ages of 0 to 15 years.

WHAT WE DO

01 POLICY ADVOCACY

We advocate for clear and comprehensive European policy to end FGM which is child-centric, community-focused and human rights-based. Our focus is to ensure that this policy promotes women and girls' safety within the EU and beyond.

02 BUILDING BRIDGES

We connect actors from all regions of the world to share expertise and skills, to tackle the cross-border nature of FGM.

03 CHANGING THE NARRATIVE

We empower, raise and promote the voices of FGM-affected communities to drive systemic change through an inclusive and non-stigmatising narrative.

04 CAMPAIGNS

We raise awareness about FGM among policy and decision-makers, professionals and other relevant stakeholders to increase their engagement with the movement.

05 STRENGTHENING THE MOVEMENT

We strengthen the European movement to end FGM through building the capacity, visibility and sustainability of our members.

OUR PROGRAMME

AMBASSADORS

Survivors and members of FGM-affected communities must play a central role in all actions and decisions taken to end FGM and gender-based violence! Our ambassadors programme involves activists committed to ending FGM who are already prominent at the national level and want to contribute at the European level. The programme provides the ambassadors with further training and allows them to raise their voices against FGM and gender-based violence and to share their experiences at European and international levels. The ambassadors regularly meet with European politicians, stakeholders and civil society organisations to create movement of actors committed to defending women's rights.

EMPOWERING FUTURE GENERATIONS

The young generations play a key role in ending FGM and we want to ensure that their voices are at the heart of the European movement. We bring together young anti-FGM activists who are engaged with our members. We create a space for these inspirational young people to share their experiences and connect with each other, provide training and develop joint actions.

FGM IN EUROPE

It is estimated that there are over 600.000 FGM survivors living in Europe and around 190.000 are at risk in 17 countries alone.

Support the full implementation of the directive on violence against women and domestic violence by all member states.

Our Call for EU decision-makers

- Address the shortcomings contained in the directive. Work towards the revision of the directive and focus on enhancing the scope of its provisions and go beyond the current text to adopt a more robust and inclusive framework that leaves no form of SGBV unaddressed.
- Encourage and advocate for member states to go beyond the minimal provisions of the text setting stronger national standards for protecting victims.

Each person affected with FGM faces different challenges.

- Increase funding for EIGE, EUAA or FRA to allow them to pursue their vital activities and ensure the sufficient funding of data and research.
- Increase the amount allocated to the Citizens, Equality, Rights and Values programme in particular its Daphne strand to address the cost needed to end violence against women in the mid-term review of the current MFF.
- Adopt gender budgeting and use a gender lens to ensure gender is mainstreamed in all budget lines.
- Prioritise human rights, gender-equality and ending all forms of GBV when drafting the Union's budget emphasising FGM prevention and survivor support aligned with the EU's priorities in both internal and external actions.

Better funding to end FGM

Prioritise gender-equality non-discrimination to strengthen the gender-equality framework of the Union.

- Prioritise equality and strengthening the content of the Union of Equality.
- Mainstream comprehensive gender and intersectional approach when drafting new legislations, action plans and strategies.
- Advocate for more inclusive policies and use a gender lens in all policy sectors at both internal and external levels including but not limited to human rights, humanitarian, environmental, health, trade and employment.
- Accelerate and advocate for the Commission to urgently finalise the long-awaited recommendation on harmful practices, and further strengthen its content to make sure that all forms of genital mutilation including Intersex Genital Mutilations are addressed.

Read the full recommendations

- Encourage meaningful and co-operative civil dialogue and value their key role across Europe.
- Ensure CSOs are heard at all stages of the policy-making process.
- Create a safe and enabling space for civil society, where smaller, grassroots and community-based organisations, can thrive.
- Making funding opportunities accessible, sustainable available and designed to support the long-term impact of CSO initiatives.

Recognise and support civil society and grassroots organisations

Protect and support FGM-affected asylum seekers

- Advocate for the needs and demands of FGM-affected asylum seekers to be accounted for at every stage of the asylum process. In particular, for culturally and gender-sensitive reception services ensuring holistic support for FGM survivors.
- Advocate for Member States and European Agencies to put in place effective and accurate disaggregated data collection systems in all Member States at all stages of the asylum procedure.
- Work closely with Member States, to re-affirm their commitment to the Charter of Fundamental rights and ensure the New Pact Pact on migration and asylum is implemented in a human-right centric and gender-sensitive way.

EU ELECTIONS 2024

2024 marked an important time for the European Union. With a new cohort of MEPs and College of Commissioners, End FGM EU looks forward to closely working with new and old allies to advance the elimination of FGM throughout this next mandate. In the run up to the European Elections we worked closely with our members to prepare and to disseminate for signatures, the End FGM Manifesto. With the help of our Ambassadors, the Manifesto was first launched during the International Day of 0 Tolerance for FGM on 6th of February 2024 at the European Parliament in Strasbourg. Gathering such allyship is essential to ensure that our goals are made into a reality.

OUR MANIFESTO

1. Work towards EU gender equality goals, including ending gender-based violence and FGM.
2. Ensure FGM-affected community voices shape policies that concern them.
3. Promote accurate narratives about FGM to counter stigmatization.
4. Advocate for additional funding to civil society, prioritizing grassroots efforts.
5. Prioritize training for professionals in relevant policies and EU-funded programs.
6. Promote an intersectional and feminist approach to eliminate gender-based violence in EU policies.

HOW TO TALK ABOUT FGM

DO'S

DON'TS

✓ Use the term Female Genital Mutilation (FGM), as it is the internationally agreed upon term

✗ Don't use misleading terms, such as "circumcision".
Don't use specific terms, such as "infibulation", to refer to all forms of FGM

✓ Use comprehensive, respectful and non-stigmatising language

✗ Don't fuel hate speech using words such as "barbaric", "disgusting", "savage" that are offensive and judgmental for affected communities. Do not use sensationalising headlines or terms

✓ Use positive images

✗ Don't use shocking images that risk causing re-traumatisation of FGM survivors and of affected communities. Don't use graphic images or details such as blades or blood

✓ Use the term "affected communities" as opposed to "practising communities" because it encompasses those who wish to leave the practice behind

✗ Don't assume that everyone in an affected community feels the same way about FGM

✓ Use the same words survivors choose to use when speaking, without re-phrasing what they say. Use factually-based arguments

✗ Don't romanticise or re-write a survivor's story

DO'S

FGM is a violation of human rights and a specific form of gender-based violence. FGM is only one of the many practices performed to control women's bodies and roles in society

Don't portray FGM with a sense of cultural otherness, that reinforces stereotypes and misunderstandings

Recognise all types of FGM are as harmful physically and/or psychologically. No hierarchy can be made in the pain and the trauma caused by FGM

Don't focus only on the physical procedure itself

Recognise FGM abandonment as a feminist issue. FGM aims at controlling women's bodies and sexualities. Both women and men play a role in the continuation or abandonment of the practice

Don't label FGM as a "women's issue"

Tell positive stories as a way of promoting FGM abandonment. Show that change is possible and can be inspiring to others

Don't forget many people and communities have abandoned FGM and cultural norms change over time. Change is possible and is happening

Women and girls who have undergone FGM are survivors, not victims. Acknowledge survivors' resilience and strength

Don't portray survivors as victims

DON'TS

WHEN TALKING WITH A WOMAN AFFECTED BY FGM OR WITH MEMBERS OF AN AFFECTED COMMUNITY

✓ Let people own their narrative and understand that every survivor has a different experience

✗ Don't assume you already know their story, don't assume all stories are the same

✓ Use the terms the person you are talking to prefers to use, as many terms are used worldwide to refer to FGM

✗ Don't use judging language and avoid alienation

✓ Believe survivors when they tell their stories and treat affected communities with respect: they are the experts of their own experience

✗ Don't minimise survivors experiences when they tell their stories

✓ Respect boundaries

✗ Don't be intrusive and don't ask questions that might re-traumatise the survivor. Do not ask personal questions or intimacy-based questions

✓ Let survivors tell you who they are and what they do today. Listen and respect them

✗ Don't reduce survivors to their traumas and their pasts

✓ Create a positive and safe environment when talking with a member of an affected communities

✗ Don't play a survivor in opposition to her community. Don't judge a survivor's family for practising FGM

MYTHS - VS - FACTS

✘ People who practise FGM are “barbaric” and “irrational”

✔ When a family accepts to carry out FGM on its daughter, they wish to protect her against being stigmatised and socially excluded. A woman who has undergone FGM is socially accepted within her community and the society, and is ready to marry

✘ Some forms of FGM are minor

✔ All forms of FGM are harmful. Any form is a violation of human rights and a form of gender-based violence

✘ FGM is a Muslim practice or a religious practice

✔ FGM is not prescribed by Islam or by any other religion. FGM existed prior to the existence of monotheistic religions and is to this day also practised in some Christian communities for example

✘ FGM is an African issue

✔ More than 200 million women worldwide have undergone FGM. FGM happens on every continent in the world except Antarctica, it is a global issue. Also, in several African countries FGM is not practised

✘ FGM is only practised by undereducated, socially disadvantaged people or in rural contexts

✔ FGM occurs across all cultural and socio-economic groups

✘ Practising FGM in a hospital reduces risk

✔ Medicalised FGM (when practised in a healthcare facility) can be as harmful as when done traditionally and does not necessarily lead to a ‘safer’ practice. The psychological and physical effects of FGM remain serious and concerning
